

DRESS CODE POLICY

1. INTRODUCTION

At SHPL we expect our employees to dress nicely and appropriate at work which includes specific guidelines. Our dress code policy reflects our brand , identity, values and culture we are practicing at SHPL.

2. DRESS CODE POLICY

Below is the dress code that shall be applicable at SPHL;

- a) For regular working days i.e., Monday through Thursday, male employees shall dress “Business Casual”. Business casual definition includes formal dress shirt / Collar shirts and corporate pants.
- b) For male employees, proper haircut, shave or properly groomed beard and presentable outlook is significantly important.
- c) For female employees, accessories (including jewelry) should be conservatively adorned. The overall dress should be presentable without being ostentatious. Female with waist length and greater should tie them properly and nicely.
- d) On Fridays, men may choose to wear Shalwar Qameez due to Friday prayers but the suit has to be adequately ironed with/without formal waist coat and formal shoes. Slippers are not allowed.
- e) Clothing such as sports/gym wear, jeans, revealing attire or anything that is excessively worn or wrinkled will not be allowed.
- f) Employees are encouraged to dress formally whenever they are required to represent the company e.g., official meetings with customers, dignitaries etc even on Fridays.

Appearance and dress in the office should be smart/casual. We appreciate and encourage employees to use pleasant fragrances and perfumes. Employees should be aware that their appearance represents them and their employer and they should avoid inappropriate clothing that is generally thought of as offensive.

- a) Inappropriate clothing for employees
 - i. Outfits that are culturally/ethically unacceptable
 - ii. Rolled up sleeves, relaxed body posture (lying and resting on table)
 - iii. unbuttoned Collars
 - iv. T-shirts with round and V shape neck/tank tops
 - v. Denim; shirts, pants, or skirts

- vi. Exercise/workout clothes (e.g., sweat suits,)
- vii. Inappropriately tight clothing
- vii. Dangling Jewelry/ Clothes
- viii. Shorts/Bermudas/sundresses
- ix. Halter/sleeveless or midriff tops
- x. Clothes with derogatory or disrespectful slogans or designs
- xi. Worn, tattered, cut-off, or ripped clothing
- xii. Sneakers, athletic shoes or flip flops

Avoid sitting by putting off your shoes and displaying rubber slippers sideways. The rubber/plastic slippers should be confined to the ablution area.

b) Rules and Exceptions

- i. Female employees are allowed to wear sandals and open shoes as long as they don't classify as slippers or too informal.
- ii. Male employees are permitted to wear shalwar kameez on Fridays only. However, basic decorum still needs to be followed and proper footwear needs to worn. For e.g., traditional "khairees" (Peshawari sandals with back straps) are permitted while sneakers, casual t-shirts and shorts are deemed inappropriate.
- iv. Employees are expected to pay careful attention to dressing on days they have to attend meetings, trainings or attending board meetings etc.
- v. On such days the male employees can be expected to wear ties or a suit while female employees are to dress accordingly.
- vi. All employees are expected to look neat and tidy at all times. Outfits are expected to be laundered and ironed properly.
- vii. Employee's non-compliance with dress code can result in warnings and disciplinary action in the same way as non-adherence to other policies.
